Sneak Thief Captured.

At 3 o'clock yesterday morning, W. H. Schram, proprietor of the Hyde House, this place, was awakened by his wife with the information that some one was in the room. Mr. Schram here he remained until death at once arose and followed the thief who had left the room and endeavored to go down stairs. The thief was mistaken in his location of the surroundings, and instead of going down stairs he ran into another room where them just midway between the Reno some girls were sleeping. Mr. Schram grasped him by the throat and threw him into the room he had just left, and, grasping a large fron stove poker. stood guard over the prisoner until Mrs. Schram awoke the bar tender, and other men about the house who at once took the thief into custody and landed him safely in Jall. There was about $14 in silver quarters in Mr. Schram's pants' pockets. This the thief succeeded in getting with the exception of four quarters. He had left the outside door open, his boots at outside the door, so that his plan for Court of Oyer and Terminer, and retreat was a good one, but failed as General Juil Delivery, to be holden at we have noted by his taking a wrong ing something to ent before he commenced to look for money.

THE SUN.

NEW YORK, 1883.

More people have read The Sun during the year just now passing than ever before since it was first printed. No other newspaper published on this side of the earth has been bought and read in any year by so many men and women. We are credibly informed that people buy, read, and like The Sun for the following reasons, among others:

Because its news columns present in attractive form and with the greatest possible accuracy whatever has in-terest for humankind; the events, the deeds and misdeeds, the wisdom, the philosophy, the notable folly, the solid sense, the improving nonsense-all the news of the busiest world at present revolving in space.

Because people have learned that in its remarks concerning persons and affairs The Sun makes a practice of telling them the exact truth to the best of its ability three hundred and sixtyfive days in the year, before election as after, about the whales as well as about the small fish, in the face of dissent as plainly and fearlessly as when supported by general approval. The Sun has absolutely no purposes to serve, save the information of its readers and the furtherance of the common good. Because it is everybody's newspaper. No man is so humble that The Sun is indifferent to his welfare and his rights. No man is so rich that it can allow injustice to be done him. No man, no association of men, is powerful enough to exempt from the strict application of its principles of right and wrong.

Because in politics it has fought for a dozen years, without intermission and sometimes almost alone among newspapers, the fight that has resulted in the recent overwhelming popular verdict against Robesonism and for honest government. No matter what party is in power, The Sun stands and will continue to stand like a rock for the interests of the people against the ambition of bosses, the encroachments of monopolists, and the dishonest schemes of public robbers, All this is what we are told almost daily by our friends. One man holds that The Sun is the best religious newspaper ever published, because its Christianity is undiluted with cant. Another holds that it is the best Republican newspaper printed, because it has already whipped half of the rascals out of that party, and is proceeding against the other half with undiminished vigor. A third believes it to be the best magazine of general literature in existence, because its readers miss nothing worthy of notice that is current in the world of thought. So every friend of The Sun discovers one of its many sides that appeals with particular force to his individual If you already know The Sun, you will observe that 1883 it is a little better than ever before. If you do not already know The Sun, you will find it to be a mirror of all human activity, a storehouse of the choicest products of common sense and imagination, a mainstay for the cause of honest government, a sentinel for genuine Jef-fersonian Democracy, a scourage for wickedness of every species, and an recious Hope-Peruna. Walnut Leaf Hair Restorer.

Sheriff's office, Ridgway, Pa., Dec. 5th, 1882.

HALL & McCAULEY, Attorneys for Libellant.

It is entirely different from all others. It is as clear as water, and, its name indicates, is a perfect Vere-table Hair Restorer. It will immedi-ately free the head from dandruff, restore gray bair to its natural color, and produce a new growth where it has fallen off. It does not in any manner affect the health, which Sulphur, Sugar or Lead, and Nitrate of Silver preparations have done. It will change light or faded heir in a few days to a beautiful glossy brewn.
Ask your druggist for it. Each bestile
